TBM CONSULTING DEVELOPS MARKET STRATEGY IN GERMANY

-- Office in Frankfurt expands the international network --

September 22, 2010 – TBM Consulting is developing its market strategy in Germany and opened an office in Frankfurt am Main in August as part of this. With the new location, the consultancy for LeanSigma® is expanding its international network and offering clients enhanced local support. The pressure and temperature measurement instrumentation providers WIKA, piano maker Steinway & Sons, and H&T Presspart, a manufacturer of precision components for the pharmaceutical industry, currently count among TBM Consulting's clients in Germany.

TBM Consulting help companies in the manufacturing and service sectors to identify sustainable sales and productivity growth potential and to realise this efficiently. The aim: growth exceeding the market average. The consulting expertise and practical implementation at both medium-sized and large companies are provided by experienced consultants, all of whom invariably have more than ten years' experience in production.

"We took the step of opening a new office to better be able to cater to the German market and to establish a presence for our German clients," said Gary Hoover, Managing Director of TBM Europe. "Our clear objective is to continue to support companies across Europe during process optimisation with the help of our LeanSigma® approach. German companies are extremely demanding, hence local proximity of the contact person is very important here."
